

WEMOVO is a Berlin based technology company that offers a web and mobile software for bus companies. With our software we digitize bus companies, help them to manage their business, reducing costs and improving revenues.

Today, almost 200 bus companies, among others, the two market leaders Eurolines Switzerland and ALSA from Spain, use our products. In addition, almost 4,000 digital and stationary travel agencies use our technology to sell bus tickets around the world to consumers. Established in Germany, we want to grow our business in the Balkans in the next few months and are looking for YOU.

PYTHON Web Developer (m/w)

immediately, permanent employment, Full-time

We are looking for a motivated Python Web Developer, who actively participates in the further expansion of our partner network and promotes the expansion of the team. You will be based in our Balkan Headquarter in Skopje.

Your tasks

- Software Engineering with main focus on backend development
- Ensure consistent and well documented API and Framework design
- Development of own tests for testing of the Frameworks
- Being integrated in the whole development cycle; including planning, designing, implementation, testing and deployment processes
- Integration of different data basis, to improve the performance
- Increase the reliability and speed of our web services

Your profile

- MSc degree in Computer Science or related technical field
- Excellent programming skills in Python and Django framework
- At least three years of professional experience object oriented programming language
- You care about code quality and testing
- Understanding of software products and digital business models
- Fluent English spoken and written

Bonus Points

- Prior experience in designing, building and monitoring high availability production systems
- Experience designing and building RESTful APIs
- Experience in complex data structure design and implementation
- Expertise with Amazon Web Services or data center experience
- Experience in the travel, tourism or transportation industry

What we offer!

- Liberal and enriching environment for software development
- An international team that challenges you to find the best possible solution
- A highly motivated team, on-site coaching, face-to-face reviews, team events
- A modern and friendly environment, Start-Up feeling and additional benefits
- A safe and very attractive salary package
- Any other Wemovo office benefits

Interested? Apply now!

Please send your application in English via our recruitment site <https://wemovo.recruitee.com>. That should contain a Portfolio or CV or if you have a "GitHub" account. Please tell us your next possible starting date and salary expectations. For any questions please contact Matthias Spanic, Tel. +40 (0) 30 555 70 80 21.

Further information about WEMOVO under: www.wemovo.com.