

Ilija Mishov's Bio:

CTO, Project Manager, Software Architect and Engineer in a wide variety of business applications especially web based or networking solutions. Always interested in new technology and higher accomplishments, Ilija provides strategic leadership for the overall company's technical direction, development and future growth. His main focus is identifying technology trends and platforms and its proper implementation. Demonstrates extensive expertise in a variety of technical skills such as: Software architecture and design, cloud based solutions, service oriented architecture, microservices, networking, security, testing, continuous integration, branching strategy, deployment strategy, redundancy, backup and restore strategy, multiple front end client types, multitenant applications, scalability and performance, development principles (like SOLID, TDD and others), understanding and implementing SCRUM project management principles.